To whom it may concern

Built in 1780 and attracting Grade II listing, Clun Town Hall is an important historic local asset within the Ludlow Constituency.

It today houses the Museum of Clun, providing public access to the heritage of the ancient town of Clun, which received its charter in the 13th century and has internationally renowned links.

Given its historic significance and continued use at the heart of the community in Clun, I write in support of the bid from Clun Town Council and Clun Town Trust for the Community Ownership Fund, under the Department for Levelling Up, Housing and Communities.

The Hall is in need of urgent repairs, and a successful funding bid would allow for its conservation and protection for years to come.

Yours sincerely
